Keshavjee presents a succinct chronology of the key political events that have shaped global health policy in recent decades.

Blind Spot: How Neoliberalism Infiltrated Global Health ...

Blind Spot is a quick and pithy study of a problem that refuses to go away.--Vincanne Adams, Professor of Medical Anthropology at the University of California, San Francisco, and author of Markets of Sorrow, Labors of Faith: New Orleans in the Wake of Katrina Blind Spot provides a singularly nuanced critique of neoliberal health policies as they play out on the ground in a desperately impoverished, post-war, post-Soviet setting. Taking readers from the boardrooms of Geneva to the high ...
