Most people believe knowledge is power and that success depends on how much a person knows. Knowledge is power but knowledge without action can be useless. Professors and academics of the world, in spite of possessing a great deal of education and knowledge, are not the millionaires of today's world. You also see people like Steve Jobs who in spite of dropping out of college make it really big in life.

Knowledge Is Power But Knowledge Without Action Is Useless

5 Reasons Why Knowledge is Power. 1. Knowledge liberates us. Knowledge sets us free, and makes us less dependent on others. Freedom is essential for real power. Of course, being truly free means that we do not use our power to control other people against their will. 2. Respect. True knowledge commands more respect than mere empty authority within a hierarchy ever could.

In sociology, power-knowledge is a term introduced by the French philosopher Michel Foucault. According to Foucault's understanding, power is based on knowledge and makes use of knowledge; on the other hand, power reproduces knowledge by shaping it in accordance with its anonymous intentions. Power creates its own fields of exercise through knowledge. The relationship between power and knowledge has been always a central theme in the social sciences.

Power-knowledge - Wikipedia

Power-Knowledge: A Political Strategy. The position adopted by Foucault, that knowledge is not independent of power, is articulated in several studies which outline the precise relations of power within which particular human sciences have emerged, and the contribution made by the human sciences to the development of technologies of power.
