Earth seems to be struggling, reeling from the impacts of industrial civilization. Is a bright future possible? Can both people and planet thrive? The journey from where we currently are to where we would like to be is far shorter than most people imagine because the most important part of that journey is inside us. It starts by leaving behind the stories that disconnect us from our essential nature as well as from our deep belonging to this planet and universe. From the far reaches of the cosmos to the bacteria that inhabit your gut, science is uncovering the evidence that rewrites our human story and the story of our planet and universe. We are part of Earth's evolving life, part of the fabric of nature, and we hold within us the ability to connect to a radical creativity - a creativity that is guided by our hearts even as it makes full use of our rational minds. You hold a transformational power, one that can help to shift our culture and our planet through the perils of a changing climate. This book will show you the path to becoming a partner in the creation of our ongoing, co-evolutionary adventure with Earth.

Frame by Frame III continues the work of documenting the participation of African Americans in cinema and illuminating their important contributions to the art of filmmaking. African Americans are screenwriters, actors, producers, directors, musicians, and consultants who contribute their talents to a film industry that scarcely recognizes them. Frame by Frame I includes productions from 1900 through 1977; Frame by Frame II extends coverage through 1994. With this volume, Audrey Thomas McCluskey and the staff of the Black Film Center/Archive at Indiana University bring the work of this essential resource into the 21st century. Covering the years from 1994 to 2004, the volume includes listings of black cast members, directors, executive producers, film composers, performers, producers, screenwriters, and Academy Award winners and nominees. Audrey T. McCluskey is Associate Professor of Afro-American Studies and Director of the Black Film Center/Archive at Indiana University. She is co-editor of Mary McLeod Bethune: Building a Better World (IUP, 2000).

...life is mocked by death, and we are the fools." --Justin Chance. Is this the despairing conviction of an eighteen-year-old boy haunted by personal demons pursuing him as he runs from a tragic past? Or were these words uttered in ignorance of the real demons seen by supersleuth Benjamin Wade as the Baby-Boomer parents of Michael Weston and Michael's betrothed Erin Jennings. When the friendship of Michael and Justin metamorphoses into romantic love before the fireplace on a snowy Christmas Eve, their lives suddenly change forever. Michael, a successful software entrepreneur at the young age of twenty, must now choose between Love and Love and can only watch helplessly as his world begins to collapse around him. A story of two boys who are coming of age in a Baby Boomer-dominated society and who find themselves suddenly faced with all the great questions humanity has perpended for millennia--questions about love and life and fate and who we are as participants in the social order, indeed as members of the human species--it is an indictment of the Boomer generation and the world that generation has created. As Michael and Justin struggle to understand the great personal and societal forces bearing down heavily upon them and to do what they each believe in their young minds is the right thing under impossible circumstances, their superior intelligence can find little guidance in the accepted wisdom of their country. A cast of colorful characters animates a story of deep emotion engaging the reader, a story whose suspense rivets as it builds toward the dramatic climax.

moving love story. Ollie's easygoing, fun-loving nature makes him one of the most loved characters in the book. His shenanigans and the raw-edged honesty of fellow character Hester Driver will keep you laughing. Midwife Maggie Windsor, who delivers the Sheffield children, becomes an extension of the family when she is asked by Winnie's mother to live with them. With a compelling story of her own, Maggie's metamorphosis is a touching tribute to the power of being loved and accepted. You'll feel as if you know each of them as they journey through their lives, leaving their footprints behind in the rich soil of Blue Ridge, Georgia. (2017, Paperback, 368 pages)
