I am looking for a first shotgun as a graduation present for my son who has recently graduated from VMI. I came across a reasonably priced (under $500) Savage mdl 330 over and under in 12ga and wondered whether any one has any familiarity with this gun. Condition seemed VG and I believe it had cut checkering rather than roll stamped.

A hunting buddy of mine has 2 12ga's, one savage and one valmet. i hate to disagree with AKC, but my friend has shot steel out of his for years. he called savage, and they responded in a letter, confirming that it was safe to shoot steel in his skeet/i.c. barrel, but NOT his mod/full. i passed one up for the same price a few yrs ago, and regret it now.

New to your board. I've got a savage (valmet) 330 that I tried to take pheasant hunting a week ago. It's been so long since I used it that I think the old oil grease, unburnt powder etc. built up and gummed up the safety. I tore it down thinking I could remember how to put it back, but I'm having difficulties.

Bought a used Savage Model 330 O/U 12 gauge yesterday. This gun looks to have seen little use (from it's external appearance). I removed the forearm, barrels, and found the gun to be exceptionally clean. I did not remove the stock. I noticed there was a lot of dust on the trigger guard and inside the first few inches of the muzzles.
